

IN SUPPORT FOR RECOGNITION OF WORLD WATER DAYHON. HENRY C. "HANK" JOHNSON, JR.

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, March 22, 2017

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, every year on March 22nd we recognize World Water Day. It highlights drinking water is a basic right denied to many.

According to the United Nations fact sheet for World Water Day of 2017, a source of drinking water contaminated with feces, which puts them at risk of contracting cholera, dysentery, typhoid and polio. Unsafe water, poor sanitation and 842,000 deaths each year." This is a reality for people around the world including here in the United States.

Flint, Michigan has been without clean drinking water for almost two years. There were high levels of lead in the water supply which is contributing to a growing number of chronic illnesses in the region. It was not until this month that the EPA awarded funds to repair the pipe system in the city of Flint to hopefully decrease the amounts of lead. Unfortunately, Flint is not the only city struggling in this capacity. Last year, Reuters published an article that announced thousands of other cities had dangerous levels of lead in their water systems. This is an unacceptable reality that cannot remain ignored. The health of Americans, especially children and the elderly will remain at risk daily if this problem remains unchecked.

Under Trump's new executive order, "Restoring the Rule of Law, Federalism, and Economic Growth by reviewing the 'Waters of the United States' Rule," rolls back the landmark environmental rule that allows the government to limit the amount of pollution that enters into our streams, rivers, and wetlands. Originally the rule protected 60 percent of water sources in the U.S.; however, under this administration, whose primary concern seems to be protecting big business and corporations, these water sources are at risk.

As Members of Congress, we must take steps to protect our water supply as a matter of public health. We need to address the situations in cities where lives are in danger due to contaminated water, both in the U.S. and around the world.

RECOGNITION OF INTERNATIONAL
DAY FOR THE ELIMINATION OF RACIAL DISCRIMINATIONHON. HENRY C. "HANK" JOHNSON, JR.

OF GEORGIA

Wednesday, March 22, 2017

Mr. JOHNSON of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, yesterday was International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination. It is no secret that hate and racism are very much still alive today. Society is often racist and prejudiced against minority individuals, because of the color of their skin or where they come from. Men and women are denied jobs, migrant status, or even killed because of racial discrimination. The Southern Poverty Law Center's Hate Group Map indicates that the number of hate groups has grown for two years in a row. The SPLC map also demonstrates that currently there are more than 900 organizations in existence whose primary purpose is to drive a narrative of hate, discrimination, and intimidation. Additionally, a Pew research study showed racial tensions are perceived to have worsened by 38 percent of people since President Obama's first term. The same study indicated that African-Americans are about twice as likely as whites to feel that it is in fact discrimination that is preventing the success of Black Americans. The FBI's 2016 hate crime report reveals that hate crimes against Muslims grew by 67 percent in just one year.

This administration's rhetoric has encouraged behavior that is aggressive and intolerant. This is not reflective of America and our values. We must be diligent in our efforts to minimize and eliminate racial discrimination from all facets of society and our political narrative.
